

Router's Rules

For kids and their grown-ups.

I will...

- ...NEVER give my name, phone number, address, or any other personal information to anyone on the Internet, no matter how cool they seem. I will never send anyone a picture of myself.
- ...say NO to anything that makes me uncomfortable or I know my grown-up wouldn't approve of.
- ...tell my grown-up if I get an email from a stranger, and not open it without my grown-up there. Some emails are bad for me to see, and some can make my computer really sick if I open them.
- ...NEVER go into chat rooms unless my grown-up knows about it.
- ...NEVER agree to meet anyone in public, without talking with my grown-up about it.
- ...stay away from websites I know my grown-up doesn't like me to visit.

My grown-up will...

- ...help me understand what is OK for me to look at on the computer.
- ...let me teach them how to surf and pay attention to all my favorite sites.
- ...watch for emails that come from strangers.
- ...make sure I know it's not my fault if someone says something to make me feel uncomfortable.
